BASEBALL RACE NOW AT THE STRETCH

TEAMS WELL BUNCHED — ELKS HAVE SETTLED TO HARD PRACTICE—GOSSIP OF DIAMOND.

With the end of the baseball season in the big league but a few weeks away, the pennant race is a beautifully close one and fast enough to stir the blood of the most blasé fan. Three teams, the Honolulu, the Elks and the Punahou, are tied in the second series, and the second series is the real test of mettle, staying power and true baseball grit. No one can pick the winner. The Kams have a fighting chance—a long shot—but certainly a chance to climb the ladder higher. The winner of the series, however, is one of the three leaders.

With the prestige of past championships, the H. A. C.'s possess a certain advantage. Further than this they have recovered confidence since their recent winning performances. And they have the material to bat their way to the championship. In En Sue, Fernandez and Gleason the Reds have three of the best base-runners in the league. Joy is pitching excellent ball just now and the fielding has improved steadily. Dangerous, certainly, and practically sure of winning their game tomorrow, the Reds are right up in the hunt and the cup is not yet lost to them.

The Elks have led the league all season, they have played better ball and played it more consistently, yet when the strain comes they have far from a clinch on the race. To a certain extent their weakened condition will tell against them. Since Grady left and filling the backstop's position has been a problem to Manager Richardson and Captain Hampton, the Elks have suffered woefully in their teamwork. But their three defeats, two consecutively, have certainly destroyed that nonchalant swing with which they went through the first series, and if it is not nervousness, it is something very like it that affects the Elks just now. With the realization of hard games ahead, the Elks have settled down to real practice. The order has gone forth for practice twice a week. The Elks have a rest of two weeks, and during that time they are working as never before. With everything considered, they are still the favorites in the race.

The Puns are making a brilliant bid for fame and the championship, and are by no means to be counted out. They are weak at the bat, but in fielding are performing excellently. Their chance seems to rest with the pitching. Therefore Eddie Desha is the man who will have to win or lose the race.

Comparisons are always odious, but when advantageous to home products sometimes not inexcusable. One often hears the question asked here: "How would the local teams shape up alongside the professional aggregations?" When it is taken into account that last year nearly thirty recognized professional leagues, each including from three to twelve teams, were in the great American baseball arena, the question becomes difficult to answer. But it is fairly certain that the pick of local teams could win their share of games from teams in the Class C leagues, for instance. Further, there are individual players in the Honolulu league who could make good on many professional teams. At least one outfielder in the local league would be fairly sure of a place on a Coast League team, providing that he could get a few weeks' training in fast company and an initiation into the mysteries of "inside" ball playing. The Coast League is as fast as any league outside the American and National. With more accurate base throwing there are one or two infielders here who would make the Coast League teams; and doubtless in some of the smaller leagues, where two to four games a week are played, Honolulu players would hold their own.

This is not said with a view of influencing any local player to go to the States on the strength of his baseball career in Honolulu. A professional ball player's life is unsatisfactory at best; it is a terrible grind while his eye is still good and his arm unimpaired; and when his baseball usefulness is over, his brief day of glory past, the player sinks in obscurity and usually poverty. No better picture of a professional's life has been drawn than that by Allen Sangree, the metropolitan baseball critic and reporter, in a recent number of the Saturday Evening Post. If his unspoken advice were to be followed, there would be fewer young Americans tossing the ball and batting out flies in every town-plot and most of the back alleys all over the broad American continent.

The H. A. C.'s meet the Malles in the first game tomorrow. The Punahou meet the Kams in the second game. Both contests ought to be red-hot, the former because the H. A. C.'s will go after the game hard regardless of score, and the second because the teams are well matched and each eager and thirsting for victory.

GREAT ZOO BILL TOMORROW NIGHT

The vaudeville performance for Saturday evening, August 12th, in the Zoo theater is being anticipated with much interest after the excellent showing on Wednesday evening. The blind pianist will play again and besides hearing his excellent renditions on the piano, there is the novelty of knowing he is blind and plays difficult compositions as well as light ones, as though he had perfect sight faculty.

Wednesday evening's program will be repeated with a substitution of some new songs, and those that took so well on Wednesday. The Japanese will present a scientific exhibition of jiu-jitsu, which is very interesting, the hula girls will dance, good instrumental solos and selections will be heard and the Chinese sketch, comprising the two good comedians and their assistants, will close a rattling good bill. This sketch, which created such laughter and applause on Wednesday evening, is a sure cure for blues, and to see it and hear the funny lingo is to laugh and laugh heartily. Remember, the cars leave Fort and King streets at 7:27, 7:57 and 8:27 o'clock.

GAY LIHUE SOCIETY

Lihue, Aug. 7.—A spirit of dissipation seems to have struck Lihue. Hardly a week goes by without two or three parties of some kind taking place and last week has been no exception. A luncheon, a bathing party and a dance have left all but the very young in a more or less wilted condition that needs a protracted rest cure as an offset.

An altogether successful and memorable affair took place last Monday, when Mrs. J. A. Palmer gave a charming pool luncheon in honor of her sister, Mrs. A. Brown. About noon the guests commenced to arrive and soon nearly all that Lihue possesses of charm were gathered in the Fairview parlor or on its verandas.

Punctually at 1 o'clock the doors to the dining room were thrown open revealing to the admiring guests an arrangement in scarlet and green, showing that Mrs. Palmer's active mind had been very successful in planning the decorations. Red carnations and soft, graceful maidenhair in great profusion was scattered over the tables, giving a still more appetizing look to all the tempting dishes with which the tables were laden. Pig a la lauan, chicken, coconut, fish in ti leaves, crabs, ophids, lobsters, nuts, koele paku, haupia, were all discussed and enjoyed as were also the happy toasts and bright speeches, interpolated between the courses. Winding up the feast with black coffee the ladies adjourned to the lanai where a spirited game of progressive, six-handed peder was indulged in. The latter resulted in a hard fought victory for Mrs. Coney and a beautiful bouquet of carnations, tied with red ribbons.

Present were Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. A. S. Wilcox, Mrs. J. H. Coney, Mrs. R. Wilcox, Mrs. C. H. Sweetser, Mrs. E. Omsted, Mrs. C. A. Rice, Mrs. A. H. Rice, Mrs. P. Berger, Mrs. W. H. Rice, Sr., Mrs. W. H. Rice, Sr., Mrs. W. C. King, Miss Helen Kimball, Miss Ladd, Miss L. Jordan, Miss B. Soper, Miss E. Rice, Miss J. Quinn, Miss A. Mosman, Miss Ethel Wilcox, Miss Minna Berger, Miss H. Givlin, Miss Kaul Wilcox, Mrs. J. A. Palmer—Garden Island.

RECORD OF SURETIES.

Word comes from St. Louis that Governor Folk intends to institute an action for forfeiture of the Western Union's charter in Missouri on the ground that that telegraph company is aiding and abetting a felony by carrying odds on Delmar track races. The work of convicting hoodlums is as nothing compared with that of preventing telegraph companies from carrying racing odds, and Governor Folk knows how hard it is to convict hoodlums. Besides, there will remain the telephone to deal with, and that is a much more difficult proposition than the telegraph—Buffalo Express.

Bridget—"I'll hove to be 'avin' ye, ma'am, unless ye give me more wages." Mrs. Hiram Offen—"More wages? Why, you don't know how to cook and you don't even know how to wash dishes properly." Bridget—"That's jist it, ma'am. The work's harder fur me bakase I don't know how to do it."—Philadelphia Press.
